

Environmental benefits

We take our responsibilities towards the environment very seriously.

We know that more and more organisations appreciate the importance of their contribution to the environment. Right from the start, Enviro-Fresh recognised that good environmental practice must be an integral and fundamental part of our business strategy.

We're proud to be innovators in the environment. The eco-clear complete urinal solution cures urinal problems at source - and by doing so, makes a positive contribution in critical ways:

Reduced water use

Tried and tested water management technology can cut your water consumption by up to 90%, without the usual side-effects of increased odours and blockages

Elimination of harmful chemicals

With the proprietary bio-enzymes in our eco-clear sleeve effectively removing all bacteria from the waste outlet, coupled with our biological cleaning solution there's no need for bleach or other harmful cleaning agents

Energy Conservation

The production, supply and treatment of water consume significant amounts of energy. By saving water you are also saving energy and reducing your organisation's carbon foot print

Low environmental impact

All eco-clear products are specially designed to have low environmental impact - the plastic of the patented eco-clear sleeve is recyclable, the bio-block is fully biodegradable and the cleaning solution is completely non-chemical based

More and more businesses around the world are recognising their corporate social responsibilities through the introduction of energy efficient and water saving initiatives. By choosing eco-clear you will be demonstrating your concern for environment as well as providing staff and visitors with a pleasant washroom experience.
